

Exhibit D

In Re Google Play Store Antitrust Litigation, Case Nos. 3:21-md-02981-JD and 3:20-cv-5761-JD
(District Court for the Northern District of California)

NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF CERTIFIED CLASS ACTION

ATTENTION: CONSUMERS WHO MADE PAYMENTS THROUGH THE GOOGLE PLAY STORE

THIS IS A COURT-APPROVED NOTICE AND NOT A SOLICITATION FROM A LAWYER

Please read this Notice carefully. You are receiving this Notice because you may have paid for an App through the Google Play Store or paid for in-App digital content (including subscriptions or ad-free versions of Apps) through Google Play Billing (a “Qualifying Purchase”). If you did, for example, pay to download a game or made a purchase inside an App downloaded from the Google Play Store, you may have important rights concerning the class action lawsuit (the “Class Action”) described below.

Private counsel acting on behalf of a certified a class of consumers making a Qualifying Purchase in 17 States or territories (the “Class” or “Plaintiffs”) brought antitrust lawsuits against Google LLC (“Google”). The Complaint alleges that the prices that consumers paid to Google for Apps and in-App digital content were inflated because Google unlawfully acquired and maintained a monopoly in the Android App distribution market through anticompetitive practices. Plaintiffs claim Google’s conduct caused consumers to pay more for their App and in-App purchases than they would have paid without that conduct.

You are receiving this Notice because Google’s internal records show that you may be a consumer who made a Qualifying Purchase using a Google payments profile billing address located in one or more of the jurisdictions that are part of the certified class defined below:

On November 28, 2022, the Court certified the following Class:

All persons in the following U.S. states and territories:

Alabama, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Wisconsin, Wyoming, American Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands who paid for an App through the Google Play Store or paid for in-App digital content (including subscriptions or ad-free versions of Apps) through Google Play Billing on or after August 16, 2016.

Google has filed an appeal with the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals challenging the appropriateness of pursuing the case as a class action. Please register at www.XXXXXXXX.com or call (800) XXX-XXXX to be kept informed about the progress of this appeal.

Depending on the “legal address” listed in your Google payments profile when you made a Qualifying Purchase, you may be a member of the Class Action for the Qualifying Purchase(s). If so, your interests will be represented by court-appointed Class Counsel. You have the right to hire your own lawyer instead at your expense.

If you are a member of the Class and do nothing, you will remain a member of the Class Action, and will be bound by all orders, judgments, and decisions of the Court. If there is an award of money to consumers in the Class Action, you will be notified about further steps, if any, that may be needed to apply for your part of it.

If you do not want to remain a member of the Class or wish to file your own claim against Google, you must submit a request to be excluded on or before _____, 2023. To learn more about or to submit a request for exclusion, go to www.XXXXXXXX.com.

An administrator appointed by the Court is sending this Summary Notice. To view the full Notice approved by the Court, and for more information about the Class Action, including certain important Court filings, go to www.XXXXXXXX.com or contact the administrator at (800) XXX-XXXX or by email to XXXXX@XXXXXXXXXX.
